February 2009

While home sales in February were still down from one year ago, they weren't behind last year by as strong a clip as they have been over the last few months. There were 208 pending sales for the month, down 13.0 percent from last February. Closed sales were down 9.8 percent.

The February median sales price of $142,000 was up 19.3 percent from last February. Before we go popping the champagne to celebrate rising prices, we need to bear in mind that last February had an extraordinarily low median sales price, likely due to statistical anomaly. Therefore, this jump up is nothing to get too excited about at this point.

Compared to a year ago, the inventory of homes for sale is up 13.8 percent to 1,736. This amounts to 6.8 months of supply. A balanced market between buyers and sellers is thought to have a 5- to 6-month supply of homes for sale.
