May 2009

The number of new listings in the Sioux Falls region continues to grow in the spring market, with the 624 for May representing a 2.1 percent increase over this time last year. Unfortunately, sales have yet to keep pace. May's 350 pending sales were 6.4 percent under May 2008, and closed sales were down 14.2 percent over last year.

With sales dropping faster than new listings, the months supply of inventory for sale in the region has grown to 8.6 months, an increase over this time last year of 26.9 percent. This requires smart pricing, staging and marketing from home sellers.

Despite the drop in home sales and the growth in inventory, the year-to-date median sales price in the region of $141,125 is basically dead-even with last year. The Percent of Original List Price is lower than it has been in prior years but has risen in recent months to 96.6 percent.
