September 2009

For the fourth consecutive month, September saw an increase in pending sales compared to one year ago in the Sioux Falls housing market. The 326 signed purchase agreements in the month of August represented an 18.1 percent increase over the same month in 2008.

The jump in sales can be directly attributed to the federal first time home buyer tax credit. The share of the region's sales that involve first-time buyers has jumped dramatically this summer; over 36 percent of August's closed sales were to first-time buyers.

The tax credit is only one reason why first-timers are buying in this market. The excellent affordability of the region's homes is also proving extremely helpful to sales, as the Housing Affordability Index has jumped up to 186 thanks to low mortgage rates and soft prices.
