Monthly Indicators

January 2010

Home sales in the Sioux Falls region in January were down from a year ago at 148 purchase agreements signed—a drop of 3.3 percent. The recent hot streak in buyer activity seems to have slowed somewhat.

January's median sales price of $139,700 was 7.5 percent higher than a year ago. Yes, rising prices are ordinarily a pretty ho-hum and normal thing, but in light of the drop in prices that most parts of the country have seen over the last several years, "ho-hum" is a welcome phrase these days.

The Months Supply of Inventory in the region has dropped in the last year to 5.7, down 19.0 percent from the mark of 7.0 seen a year ago. That's an improvement, but sellers still face challenging conditions that require smart pricing and marketing.
